DIRECTORS DISCUSS HOSPITAL PROJECT AT ANNUAL SESSION

THE HOSPITAL HEADS MEET AND ELECT

Annual Session of Local Institution Convened at the Municipal Building, Charleroi — Names of the Directors For Next Term

MEETING IS ENTHUSIASTIC

Local Doctors Present—Proposition Discussed of Public Interest Is That of the Proposed New Hospital. And President Schafer Will Name Committee

The annual meeting of the officers and directors of the Charleroi-Monessen hospital was held last night in the Municipal building, Charleroi, with W. D. Pollock in the chair. Directors elected for the forthcoming three years were, Thomas P. Tweed, J. Bryant Tussing, Michael Rosenbloom, who will officiate as vice president; Ross Reeves, Allenport; re-elected, Harry W. Scott, Mrs. R. A. Roberts.

The holdover directors and officers are W. D. Pollock, John B. Schafer, president; Richard A. Roberts, treasurer; S. L. Woodward; George H. Hott, secretary.

The meeting was an enthusiastic one, lasting until midnight. It was punctuated by the presence of Drs. Vieslet, Schmidt, Hill, Sloan, and Sickman, who were optimistic of the future prospects of the institution. The proposition of the new hospital was discussed, the contingent voicing their approval of the movement, inasmuch as they feel the need of a new building. The present structure will not meet the demands of the combined communities, and a new structure is a probability, to succeed the present building. There is plenty of ground on which to erect a structure, with seven and one-half acres in which to select a suitable site. President John B. Schafer will appoint committees from among the directors to promote the project.

NOTICE, MACCABEE MEMBERS.

Important meeting the evening of 25 our District Deputy, Mrs. Mary T. Hardwick will initiate all our candidates full degrees. Meeting will take place at 7:30 o'clock. By order of the Commander. 24311

FAY GIVES GILL A DECISIVE BEATING

The Courier-Journal, Louisville, Ky., of Tuesday morning, March 18, has the following which attests that Harry Fay is still the "boss" in his class:

"Harry Fay, adopted Louisville middleweight, scored the most noteworthy and at the same time, one of the most decisive victories of his short professional ring career last night, when he proved much superior to Johnny Gill, of York, Pa., considered one of the best middleweights of the east, in the twelve-round headliner at the Jefferson County Armory.

"Gill, conqueror of Hugh Ross in Indianapolis several weeks ago, proved no match for his rugged young opponent, who, with the exception of three rounds, seldom gave him an opportunity to forge to the front. Fay forced the fight during most of the rounds and Gill took but one of his

This was the third, when he landed the hardest blow of the battle. "Fay, always jabbing or forcing his man around the ring with rights to the body or jaw, grabbed the second, fourth, sixth, seventh, eighth, ninth, tenth, eleventh and twelfth frames. Gill took the third and the fifth rounds while the opener was even.

COOLIDGE WINS IN THE WEST

Fargo, N. D., March 20.—(United Press)—Coolidge won the North Dakota presidential primary by a plurality of 15,000, it was estimated today on official returns from most of the 2,000 precincts and unofficial reports from the balance.

A surprising split placed Senator Robert M. LaFollette ahead of Senator Hiram Johnson. LaFollette's margin was only a few votes, but it was a distinct shock to Johnson supporters, who felt sure the sticker campaign for the Wisconsin Senator would bring little result.

600 Pittsburgh Saloons Defy Closing Orders

Pittsburgh, March 20.—(United Press)—600 saloons today defied the abatement orders served on them by state police and opened for business as usual today.

The saloon keepers intimated that they will "fight to a finish" in the drive of Governor Pinchot, in charge of the state, declaring that saloons were retained after the 15th amendment was made to the constitution and that they are now grill proprietors.

William F. Hoffman, directing agent of Governor Pinchot, in charge of the saloons of the state, today said that the padlocking of saloons would be brought against the worst offenders of the dry laws within the month.

Slot Machines Are Found In Moose Club

Yesterday Chief of Police James A. Murphy and Officer Roma Ross assisted Chief of County Detectives William B. Dinsmore in "rounding up" the slot machines with which Charleroi is said to be vested. It is estimated that there are about 200 slot machines in the city.

One of the machines contained an amount nearly in the sum of $45 in nickels and pennies. The other, in which nickels were placed, was in the sum of $10. The slot machines were found in the case of the Moose club, where two slot machines were secured.

It is said that the raid in Charleroi was in keeping with other visitations of the club which are being made in various parts of the county. District Deputy Howard W. Hughes accompanied Detective Dinsmore here yesterday, and it is alleged that he said while in Charleroi that the slot machines in the borough and those in various parts of the county, must go.

THE JURY GIVES LEE THE SUM OF $500

IF YOU PRIZE YOUR DOG, PERUSE THIS

S. S. Graham and Mike Toth, Jr., representing the Bureau of Animal Industry at Harrisburg, are here, and they desire to announce that they are interested in the dogs of the city. As they state that all dogs found at large, on the public highway or the borough streets, are subject to prosecution, the penalty being not less than $5, nor more than $100; 30 days in jail, or both.

Charleroi and this community have a number of dogs running at large, minus a collar or any identification of ownership, and if the owner of the animal prizes him from a monetary standpoint, he had better keep him at home, and see to it that the license on the animal has been paid.

The Community Savings and Loan Company has proven an aid to hundreds. It can help you, too. 2412

Action for Damages For Personal Injuries Sustained When Lee Is Hit By a Truck Belonging to Zeidman Furniture Company.

OTHER CASES CONSIDERED

Jury Finds For Plaintiff In Suit of the Woodward Furniture and Carpet Company Against Abe Morris—Remaining Case Is That Against Wm. Cratty

In the suit of James G. Lee against the Zeidman Furniture company of this place, a claim for damages for personal injuries sustained by Mr. Lee when hit by a truck of the defendant firm, the jury found for Mr. Lee in the sum of $500. This case has devolved no little interest in Charleroi. It went to the jury Tuesday afternoon and an agreement was reached last night about 6:30 o'clock. The furniture company, in its defense, denied responsibility, alleging that the truck was not in charge of an employee of the firm when Mr. Lee was injured, nor was it being used with the consent of the defendant company.

The remaining case left for trial is that of George H. Wherry against William Cratty, constable at North Charleroi, which involves a claim of $150. The plaintiff avers the constable unlawfully entered upon his premises and took therefrom certain goods, which he, the plaintiff, held as bail for a loan made to another party, Clark Hess. The goods taken consisted of a Victrola and records, a clock, and a bath mirror. Wherry avers he loaned Hess $150, and these articles were given to secure him, the plaintiff. It is averred the constable without authority took the goods and turned the same over to Hess. Hess, it is said, has not paid Wherry, and Wherry now looks to Constable Cratty for redress.

In the suit of the Woodward Furniture and Carpet Company of Charleroi, against Abe Morris, a suit growing out of a collision of a truck and automobile, the jury found for the plaintiff for $500. The case of Morris against the furniture company was discontinued.

Before Judge Erwin Cummins yesterday the suit of Boyd C. Parshall against Mrs. Oliver Behringer, of Washington, was heard. It was a claim involving a commission alleged gess 2413

WORLD'S BIGGEST SHOW IS AWAKING

HONORS COME TO LOCAL GIRL

Miss Anna Tomayko, a member of the Freshman B class of the Charleroi High School, was one of the five girls who presented the best-made dresses in the Pittsburgh Chronicle Telegraph Birdhouse contest and was awarded a trip to Washington. This is quite an honor as there were many dresses turned in to choose from and the contestants were to range in age from only 14 to 16. Miss Tomayko is 14 years old, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. August Tomayko of 218 1/2 Crest avenue. Miss Tomayko and Miss Elizabeth Bucene, Domestic Science teacher in the local High school, who was one of the judges, are now making preparations for their 5-day trip which will start April 15.

Monday evening of this week the judges and the prize winners were given a theatre party by the publishing company. The performance of "Irene" at the Alvin theatre was much enjoyed. 24311

Bridgeport, Conn., March 20.—(United Press)—There's a stir of spring in the lot by the railroad tracks where the greatest show on earth is awakening from its winter sleep.

A smell of fresh paint and new pine boards, mingling with the thousand and one circus smells redolent of childhood days when we ran barefoot after the elephants.

The steam calliope are brave in new coats of gilt and rainbow hues, and up in the attic of the long houses the wardrobe man is dusting off the tinsel bandmen's uniforms.

The animal cages are freshly painted and reinforced, especially the one which Mabel, the tiger, who "went bad" last December and had to be dispatched, made such a mess of before they got her.

The circus moves to New York next Sunday, just as Old Bill Gottschalk Septagenarian care-taker, with the shows for 36 years, has seen it move these many springs. Old Bill says the only thing missing this year is that the Emma didn't lay the big green egg which Bill was given for each St. Patrick's Day. He tried his best to produce this hatched, did the best, but failed. (Continued on Page Two)

Writing in Schribner's Magazine of William Jennings Bryan, Prof. William Lynn Phelps of Yale expresses the wish that the "commoner" would write his autobiography with limitations outlined as follows:
"If he would tell in simple, natural language the story of his life, leaving out all propaganda on politics and theology he would, I think, write a book that would live forever. He would have to eschew the oratorical style and, what would be more difficult, the moralizing manner. If he would simply tell the world his own life story from boyhood to the present, in his campaigns, of the persons he has known in Europe and in America from Tolstoi to the most humble of his supporters, it would be a permanent record of a phase in American political and social life, and a contribution to the literature of the world."

This interesting suggestion is likely to be rejected and, we think wisely. For what would the "Commoner" be without his "propaganda," his "oratorical style," and his "moralizing," into which have gone all his enthusiasm, his earnestness and his conviction? A "life-story" without these, the things that made the Commoner what he was and is would not be Bryan's story. It would be like a body without its soul, like a "Prince of Denmark" with Hamlet left out. Prof. Phelps wants a Bryan book of the West and of the American political arena from a detached outside view such as Mr. Bryan could not possibly become interested in writing and which, if he wrote it, would not reveal himself.

A NAVY YARD'S DILEMMA.

Rear-Admiral Plunkett, commandant of the Brooklyn Navy Yard, seems to be the most discouraged advocate of prohibition yet heard from. In his testimony at the police trial of Deputy Inspector Wakefield, charged with failure to enforce the Volstead act, he declared that Washington is "the wettest city in the United States," wetter than even New York, and that "if all the lawyers and all the judges in the country were to give up their entire time for a year and devote it to checking the sale of liquor, they would not make a dent in prohibition." He quoted police captains as saying: "There isn't any prohibition. Every house in the area (around the Navy Yard) is making liquor." The Rear-Admiral bluntly testified to having sent "twenty Federal injunctions to padlock places asked for by the police, injunctions held by the Federal authorities."
It seems that Rear Admiral Plunkett put a "ban" on a considerable area contiguous to the Brooklyn Navy yard, in order to prevent the sale of liquor to navy men in low drinking places, and that the Navy Departments then banned the Rear-Admiral's ban. The explanation of this by the New York Times is that the effect of the Plunkett ban was to "prevent the men of the fleet from using the fine building provided for them by the Y. M. C. A." and to prevent the infliction of "hardship on the honest tradesmen in the region." But the gratification among these latter and in the Y. M. C. A. in consequence of the banning of the Plunkett ban, is more than equalled by the "rejoicing in the dives near the yard." As the matter stands, the sailors are free, "there isn't any prohibition," and the Rear-Admiral is disgusted. Apparently the solution of the difficulty by compromise or otherwise is not in sight.

Crocodile, Sacred Animal.

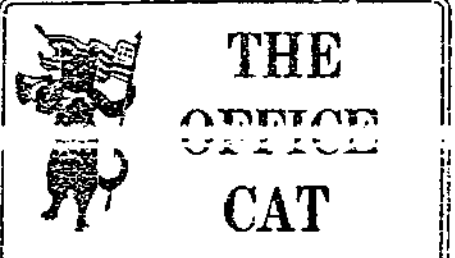

Where the river is wide the crocodiles are most numerous and here sometimes one may see them fully exposed on the banks. To the Bantians the crocodiles are sacred animals and they do not hunt them except when they have killed a human being. Then the monster has to pay heavily for it. Usually a man is cut down one of the tributaries in the vicinity where the accident occurred and a piece of monkey flesh with barbed hook hidden inside is used as bait. If the animal is caught it is cut into pieces, which are used as manure for the fields.

Many United States Flags.

The United States has had a different flag for every war. The flag of the revolution had 13 stars in a circular blue field and seven red and six white stripes. During the War of 1812, the flag had 15 stars and 15 stripes. At the time of the Mexican war, the flag had 13 stripes and 20 stars. When the Civil war broke out, the flag was the same except that it had 34 stars. Before the Civil war ended two more stars were added. The Spanish-American war flag had 45 stars. The flag used in the World war had 48

THE OFFICE CAT

The Ford influence is considerable, but his won't be the only sliver in the campaign.
A girl with a contagious laugh is worth catching.
Many valuable men are spoiled by hobbies, and yet a man without a hobby may be going around in a ring. Have a hobby, but don't let it own you.
When a man dies his shortcomings are buried with him; when he runs for office they are spread before the public in bold-faced type.
Don't become discouraged in 1924. Remember the mighty oak-- it was once a nut, too.

'TIS THE TRUTH.

A festive breeze, a maiden fair,
Who sallies forth to get the air,
Clad in some light and clinging clothes,
Low neck, high skirts, and silken hose.
Ah, fears she not she'll get the chills?
A cold? Sore throat? Or kindred ills?
Not much! But let a MAN go out
With coat unbuttoned, stroll about,
And let HIM meet that self-same breeze,
And there will come a gentle
sneeze,
And after that-- PNEUMONIO!

This column came near slipping the other morning, chuckles The Office Cat. It was about to make its annual presentation of swelling peach buds and maple blooms.

YES, IT IS A PLEASURE.

Gladys stirred and sighed. She turned her face to his and looked long and languishingly into his eyes. He breathed deeply, moved restlessly, and moved forward. He could hear voices and see dim figures on the street. He must act quickly. Closer and closer he moved. He was filled with an insane desire, a helpless longing--did he dare? How would she take it? It suddenly came over him that Columbus took a chance. He obeyed that impulse and lighted a cigarette. Life was, indeed, worth living.

Jimmy--Pa, do people grow on trees?

Pa--Of course not, Jimmy. what makes you ask?

Jimmy--Well, last night, down town, I heard sister's new beau telling someone Sis is a little patch but you're a big prune.

ANOTHER PARADOX.

Things which happen in the dark generally make the lightest reading matter.

Folks should be happy while they can. They may be rich some day, and can't be.

It is hard to tell which is the more exasperating, the street car conductor who is grouchy on the mornings you feel cheery, or the one who insists on being good-natured on the mornings you carry a grouch.

One afternoon a stranger debarked from a Brownsville train and headed up the street. Finally he met one of their oldest citizens. "Pardon me," said the stranger. "Are you a resident of this town?" "Yes, sir," was the reply of the other. "I have been here something like thirty years. What can I do for you?" "I am looking for a criminal lawyer," responded the stranger. "Have you one here?" "Well," said the native, reflectively, "We think we have, but we can't prove it on him."

The Doctor's advice to the patient: "Keep your eye on the swelling on

Burns Healed Without Leaving A Scar

My sister was burned last winter when putting coal oil on a deadened fire and the flames burst out into her face. We used nothing but San Cura and didn't even have a physician and in almost an incredible short time her face was perfectly healed without a scar. It is the finest thing for burns that I have ever seen. Have also used it for other things. Just lately an infected toe and immediately it was healed.--Hattie S. Pitts, 18 Iowa Circle, Washington, D. BEFORE TWINS WERE BORN

Was Very Miserable. Felt Lots Better After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Worcester, Wisconsin -- "I think Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before my twins were born because my sister used it and recommended it to me. I was so I could scarcely go about my daily work I was in such misery. But after I began taking the second bottle I was feeling lots better. I took three bottles and a half before I was confined and finished the bottle while I was in bed. I got up feeling fine and have taken care of the twins alone ever since. I recommend the Vegetable Compound highly and will sing its praises in the future."
—Mrs. Ida Gramenz, Wiscosa, Wis.
It is remarkable how many cases have been reported similar to this one. Many mothers are left in a weakened and run-down condition after child-birth, and for such mothers the care of the baby is well-nigh impossible. Not only is it hard for the mother, but the child itself will indirectly suffer.
Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is an excellent tonic for the mother both before and after child-birth. herbs, and does not contain any harmful drugs. It can be taken in safety by nursing mothers.

Beavers Keep A Mill Dam In Perfect Shape

Berwick, March 20.—(United Press)—The progeny of a pair of beavers turned loose near North Mountain three years ago have made an everlasting friend of a mill near Orangeville, Columbia county.

The busy animals have kept the mill dam in perfect repair after the owner, John Perry, had tried in vain for years to prevent it from leaking.

This colony is one of three that came from the original pair.

Beavers were entirely extinct in Columbia county when the pair was liberated.

"BOO BOO" HUFF

ADDS MCHUGH

Terry McHugh, bantamweight champion of Pennsylvania, has been added to the stable of Max "Boo Boo" Hoffman.

Hoffman, the "bird-headed" Irishman of Allentown, as Terry is generally known, has started training for several important battles which are in the making for him. McHugh has fought such boys as Pete Herman, Carl Tremaine, Pal Moore, Roy Moore, John Martin, and others too numerous to mention, and has been a consistent challenger for a crack at Joe Lynch's bantamweight title for the past few years. Manager Hoff is anxious to match Terry with the winner of the Lynch-Albe Atwell Goldstein match scheduled for this week in New York, and stands ready to offer the winner good inducements to battle McHugh in one of the Philadelphia Ball Parks during the coming outdoor season.

Ad Stone, the "Fighting Marine" of Philadelphia, has been signed by Boo Boo Hoff for two more battles.

He meets Tom Rorer in a twelve-round bout in Paterson on April 4, and Charley Weinert over the same distance in Newark on April 10. Of the three sensations who have occupied the pugilistic spotlight during the indoor season, Ad Stone, young Stribling and Paul Beilenbach, Stone is the only one who has stood the test. Stribling was defeated by Jimmy Slattery in Buffalo, and Beilenbach was knocked out by Jack Delaney, while Stone is still unbeaten. Ad has won thirty-two battles in a row.

Eddie "Kid" Wagner, Philadelphia's contender for Johnny Dundee's junior lightweight title, has been matched to act Jack Lawie, the Omaha lightweight, in an eight-round bout to a decision to be staged in Memphis, Tenn. on March 28, and may defend his Pennsylvania State Junior lightweight championship in a battle with Danny Kramer to be staged in Philadelphia early in April.

UNION TO BUILD ITS

own headquarters

Scranton, March 20.—While President Capobianco, district No. 1, United Mine Workers, has announced that the headquarters will not be moved from Scranton to Wilkes-Barre in April, as he promised in his election campaign, he has told mine officials that he is building a union headquarters in Wilkes-Barre. This is in line with the movement all through the anthracite field for the union to build and own its own meeting place and headquarters. It started in Shamokin where it is understood a fine new office building for headquarters of District No. 9 will soon be erected.

CHINA REPUDIATES:

THE CONSEQUENCES

MAY BE SERIOUS

Moscow, March 20.—(United Press).—China's repudiation of the signature of her foreign minister, Wang, on the China-Russian recognition agreement signed recently at Peking, is unjustifiable and liable to lead to the most serious consequences for which China will be responsible, it was declared in official soviet circles today.

The Russian government was prepared to ratify the agreement which her emissary, Karakhan, signed with Wang, and had demanded that China do likewise within three days. Up until today, the Chinese cabinet had withheld ratification. The agreement provided for recognition of the soviet government by China.

JOHNNY TO TRY AND

BEAT UNCLE SAM

London, March 20.—(United Press).—Great Britain's effort to beat the United States in the first flight around the world will start next Tuesday from Calshot with three planes piloted by A. S. C. MacLaren, squadron commander, and pilot W. J. Dews.

Brig. Gen. Christopher Thomson, minister of air, and other prominent officials will bid farewell to the flyers urging them to make every friendly effort to beat the Americans.

The flight will be from West to East, following the route followed by previous British efforts.

The British flyers, if successful, should cross the canal of the American aviators at Delhi, Indiana, from where the British airmen will continue along the coast to Alaska, thence to New Foundland and either direction to Ireland or via the Azores to Portugal.

Electrical Hygrometer

Depends on Selenium

Selenium is a substance which through its peculiar properties, is being used in many unique processes. As most people know, the electrical resistance of this element changes when illuminated by light. Selenium cells are made by winding two wires on a porcelain or mica core. These wires are kept apart by melting selenium between them and permitting it to harden. The cell is then baked and treated in various ways and the resultant operation of the cell depends upon this treatment. The resistance of some cells increases when illuminated, while in others it decreases.

Another interesting property has been discovered, namely, that the resistance of a selenium cell changes with moisture. Immediately it became evident that the selenium cell could be used as a hygrometer to detect the amount of water vapor in the air. Experiments at once showed that the instrument indicates humidity with considerable accuracy when precautions are taken to standardize conditions. The selenium cell will readily lend itself to use as a regulator of moisture in the air in buildings. Modern buildings are equipped with apparatus controlling the amount of water vapor in the air, and as the selenium hygrometer is an electrical device it is possible to make the hygrometer automatically control the humidifier. Thus a practical instrument has grown out of a scientific toy.

Hot Water Centennial

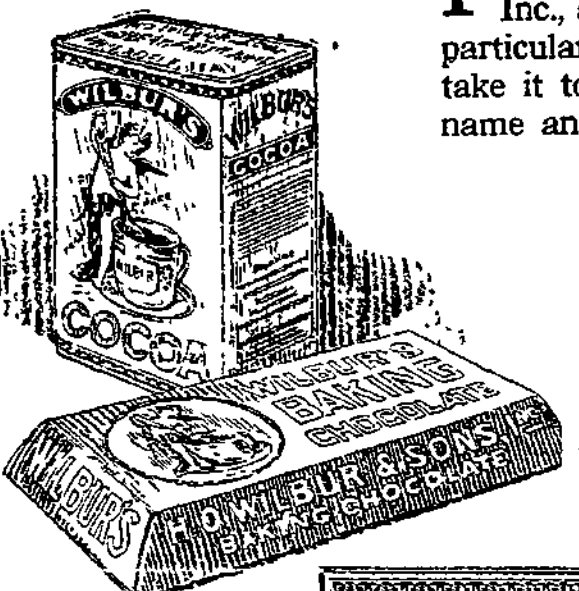

Approaching is the centennial of one of the earliest successful installations of a hot water heating system, made by Arthur Wellesley, Duke of Wellington. Before that England had shivered without relief, and the duke had felt called upon to express his opinion of the winter cold in no measured tones. But the same genius which put Napoleon in "hot water" put hot water into Wellington's home, the "Iron Duke," as he was called, being interested in science and invention, and putting his inventive genius to work. Hot water heating came to this country in the middle of the Nineteenth century.

STREAMS RESTOCK FOR GAMY TROUT

Wilkes-Barre, March 20.—(United Press).—Sportsmen in this section will ask the state fisheries department to provide trout for stream restocking immediately after the season closing, July 31, instead of fall and winter when trout are usually shipped for distribution.

It is believed this will give the fish a better chance to survive and provide more plentifully stocked streams.

TEX WANTS HIS MONEY BACK

LAW OR NO LAW

Washington, March 20.—(United Press).—Tex Rickard, New York prize fight and amusement promoter, told the Senate Daugherty committee that he "went out to get the money back on the Dempsey-Carpentier fight films by showing them wherever it was possible although he knew he was in violation of the law."

Rickard made this decision, he said, when he had been fined $1,000 for showing pictures in New York to disabled soldiers. It was this $1,000 he wanted to get back.

Brick Roads Benefit Both The Farmer And The City Fellow

"Roads Impassable."
"Schools Closed on Account of Poor Roads."

"Gravel and Macadam Roads Barred to All but Light Traffic."

Such are the headlines that jump out of the newspapers and farm journals today as early spring thaws begin to work their havoc on roads impermanently improved.

Many communities are isolated. Children's education is interfered with. Farmers who have held their produce for a price that would permit a little profit—or more often allow them to do no more than break even—are unable to haul it to market. Some states have passed laws prohibiting any appreciable weight in types and kinds of highways which weather conditions so seriously impair in the spring months, as to make extensive and expensive repairs necessary later in the year.

This is the price of "poor roads." It is difficult to express it in definite figures, but the imagination need not be overworked to get a fair idea of what the cost amounts to.

The results of a recent congressional investigation, on the other hand, show the financial advantages to the farmer of brick and other roads that can be traveled the year around. The commission found that from farm to shipping point in 1918, the cost of wagon hauling was approximately 30 cents per ton mile for wheat, 33 cents for corn, and 48 cents for cotton. Over the same route now, but on hard surfaced roads and by means of motor trucks, the cost is 15 cents per ton mile for wheat and corn and 18 cents for cotton.

That represents a direct saving of more than 50 percent to the farmer. A farmer who hauled 100 tons of wheat and corn over hard roads 10 miles to his shipping point by truck last year did so at a saving of approximately $150 as compared with his expense in taking the same crop to market with a wagon over dirt roads in 1918. That is the cash value of the good road to the farmer, not considering the daily or weekly trips to town, the saving in delivery of his purchases, and the closer contact he has with the outside world.

The city gets its profit in its receipt of fresh farm products, in the more regular and frequent shopping trips to the farmer and his family, and in the added ease with which city dwellers can find their way into the country for a change of air and scene. Paying such dividends good roads of the type that do not require costly maintenance and repairs are a good investment at almost any price.

One of the largest milk and butter distributing agencies in Cleveland, reports that the brick pavements of Cuyahoga county have saved not only the farmers, but the city consumers many thousands of dollars in the price of milk, butter, ice cream and other products.

Before the county roads were paved as they are today, 90 percent of the milk was brought into the city from the surrounding farms on interurbans and railroads. Today this condition is entirely reversed and this company brings 90 percent of its milk into the city on motor trucks at a big saving in freight rates. This permits paying a higher price to the farmer for his milk and at the same time distributing it to the city consumer for less than would otherwise possible.

This is only one example but it is such examples as this that the congressional committee studied all over the country and on which the committee based its findings.

Spring Exposition

Spring's
Gay

Blouses

FASHIONABLE women will be seen often in Blouses this Spring, ready for golf in monogrammed flannel ones perhaps; or dressed for afternoon in charming Overblouses of crepe de Chine. Five or six new ideas in collars alone is evidence of the originality you will find here.

Ready for First

Games

FASHION, just full of pleasant thoughts for Spring playing has made some thoroughly delightful Sports Clothes this season. Knitted sweaters, suits and frocks speak youth in their colors and lines. Oriental and Russian notes creep in to make them fascinating. Clever little hats and gay smocks, too, will make all outdoor pastimes doubly pleasant.

Fabrics

At Their Best

WHAT is new in fabrics? Much. First there are woollens that by their suppleness will be easy to work with and make up into very smart looking costumes. Then there are radiant and shimmering silks that help one anticipate very lovely frocks, blouses and skirts. Yes, there is encouragement here for the woman who sews.

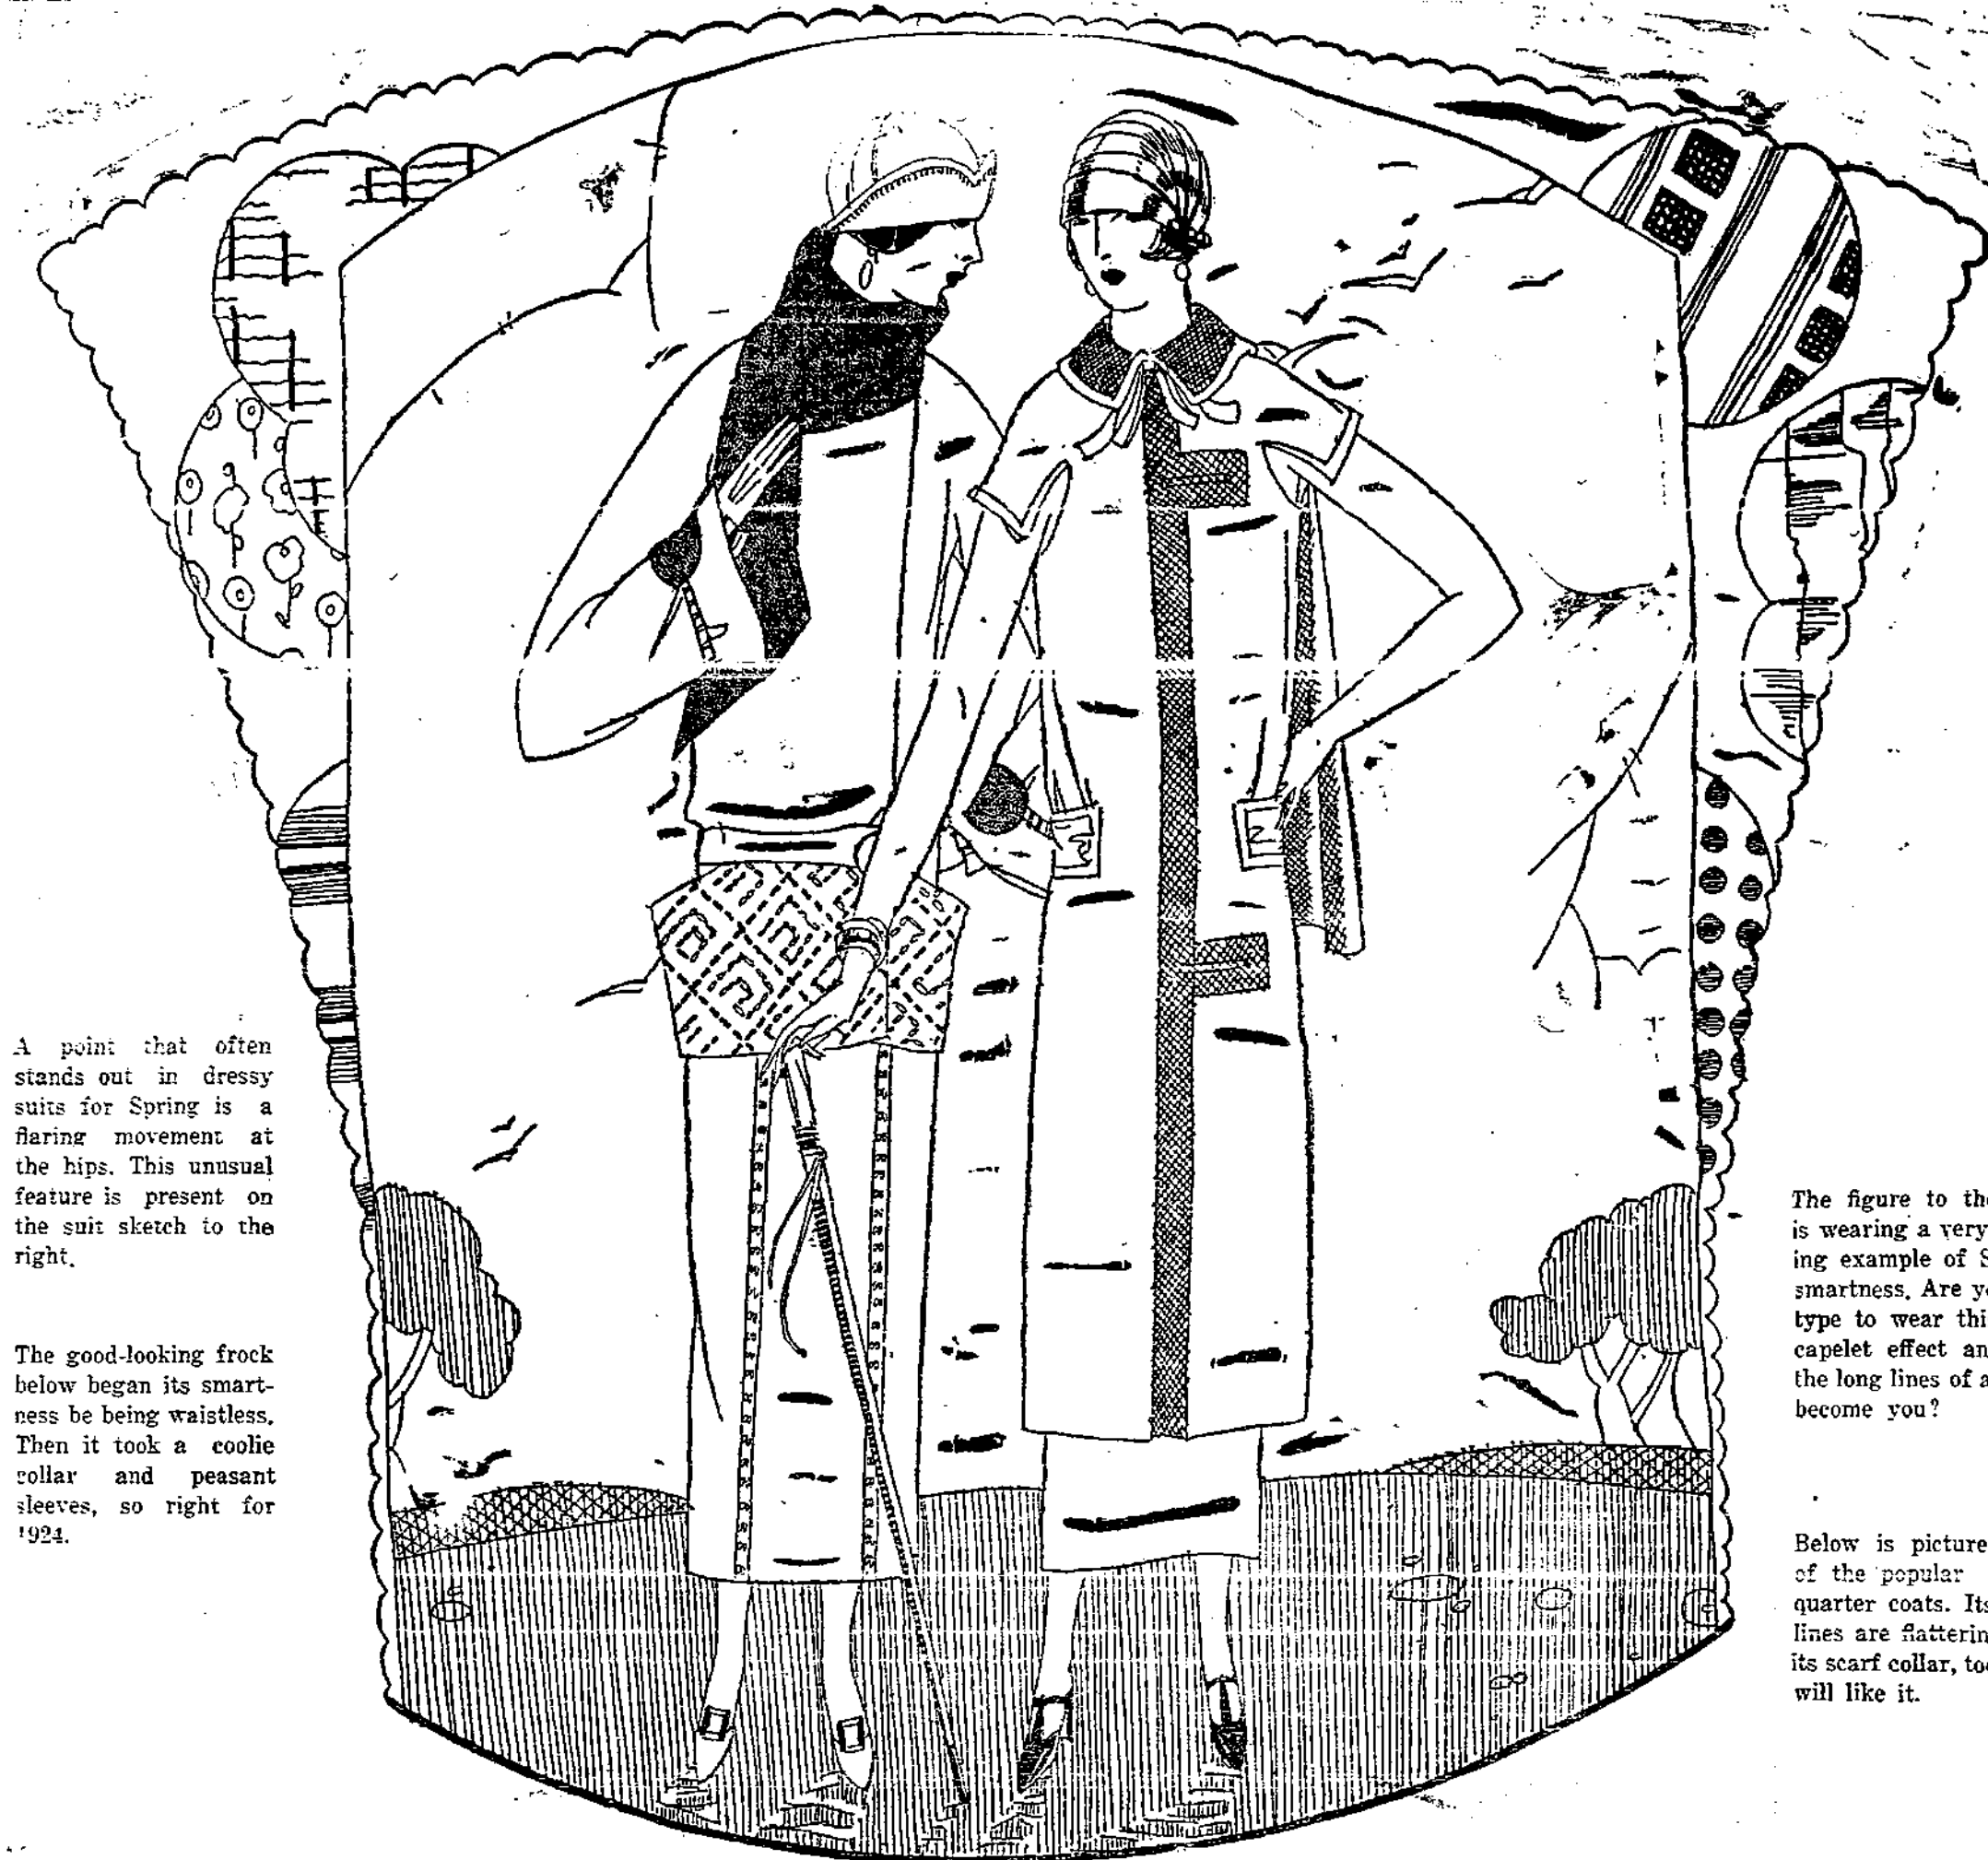

Let Spring Enter
Your

Home

WHEN every member of the family is getting new clothes should the Home be far behind? Never. For that is where your Spring-dressed friends will gather. Greet them with a new lamp, rug or chair, bright hangings or lovely china. Here are a host of pretty Home things that should join your household this Spring.

All for the Junior

WITH all winter's fun the new things to do call for new wardrobes; coats, hats, suits, frocks and underwear for warmer days. Smart, practical clothes for going-away times and for school are in fine assortments here, with every age considered.

A point that often stands out in dressy suits for Spring is a flaring movement at the hips. This unusual feature is present on the suit sketch to the right.

The good-looking frock below began its smartness by being waistless. Then it took a coolie collar and peasant sleeves, so right for 1924.

A NEW season, new fashions, new clothes—what fun! It is Spring, time for shopping larks and the enjoyment of sparkling new clothes. An interesting Spring Exposition is beginning today and will continue through the week. You will want to visit it and become acquainted with the new. Spring fashion ideas you gather here will reflect themselves in your new wardrobe, make it very smart and very satisfying.

Spring Millinery--It's Difference Delights

THERE has been gossip in the Spring air about turbans in Hatland, cloches, tricornees, roll brim Hats and those that fit like skullcaps. There has been talk of their trimmings, too. Tinted feathers have been mentioned with fancy pins, embroideries, gleaming satin bows and tiny taffeta roses. Women picture, half decide and then they wait awhile. But no one could resist for long the new hat urge when she was tempted with ideas like these. They take part in the Spring Exposition, to which you are invited. From Miss Sixteen to Madame more matronly there are Hats just to their likings. Gay, trim, dashing or dignified, but with charming newness and fashion truthness.

SUIT STORIES are varied and interesting this Spring. There is a thrill for the person who dotes on tailored clothes, for the boyish, fitted costume in twill or covert has won fashion glory. There is comfort for the sportswoman in the thought of a jaunty Suit of a new supple woolen. And there is surprise in store for everyone concerning the newnesses in three-piece Suits—their three-quarter coats and other smart turns.

WRAY WAYS are as numerous as the types to wear them. First is the Coat that goes to the knees, wears no belt and often has a scarf or high standing collar. Full length types, too, are good to look at with sleeve, collar and trimming points entirely new. Wrap fabrics range from top-coat woollens to the sleekest broadcloth, not forgetting flamingo, moire and duvetyn. These models will meet your taste.

FROCK FASHIONS for Spring! And the mode is told in a hundred new ways this season! For the business and pleasures of daytime are long straight Dresses with fullness below the knees, also apron tunic, capelet details and youthful middy types. And you must see the new leg o' mutton sleeve and coolie collar and plaited bib effects. Shorter skirts are noticed too and buttons serve very cleverly as trimmings. These are fashion facts that will impress you on your visit to the Exposition. They merely hint at the style excellence of this frock collection, where you will find garments beyond your best expectations. There is real becomingness in these models that have used charmeen, flannel, alpaca and glossy satins so interestingly.

Every woman will want at least one Frock of a formal nature for Spring, and Exposition Week is just the time to choose it. There is a rainbow of luscious colors in tulle and chiffon Frocks, to flatter fair and dark-haired women.

Spring's
Pert

Neckwear

The figure to the left is wearing a very shining example of Spring smartness. Are you the type to wear this new capelet effect and do the long lines of a tunic become you?

CLEVER Neckwear this is, where there seems to be no end of varieties. A jabot of lace peeks out from the collection, a long panel collar, a gauntlet set in organdie, and an Eton collar of linen. There is an attractive finish here for every Spring frock in the process of making.

Below is pictured one of the popular three-quarter coats. Its slim lines are flattering and its scarf collar, too. You will like it.

Hosiery

of New Complexions

SHEER Hose are fashion's first word for Spring. When they are as attractively colored as these in such shades as sunset, sahara, skyn and acorn there is no dispute as to their fitness for the smartest wardrobes.

Hose that match the shoes or contrast are equally smart.

Gloves

That Say "Style"

GLOVES are short for spring with both long and short-sleeved dresses. There are slip-ons and gauntlets with this new feature—that they are much more simple than usual. But whatever they lack in decoration they make up for in smart colors, beige tones, greys and browns to match Spring's costume leaders.

Veils have a place in the new season fashions. They have no size restrictions but must be cleverly embroidered, whether to grace a tiny cloche or picture hat.

Tete de negre is a favorite Veiling shade.

Fashion-wary

Handbags

THE BAG that shops, teas, and matinees with smart women this Spring is very likely to be a pouch Bag of satin or moire. But within the bounds of fashion it may also be an envelope purse, trimmed with petit point.

Lingerie

Ready! Lovely!

IT is time for replenishing your entire wardrobe and if you will choose Lingerie from this just arrived for Spring, your costumes will give that intimate pleasure that comes from being perfectly groomed.
